The Last Vote Counted.

Now What?

By Josh Barnett

1 Timothy 6:13-16 (NKJV)

13 I urge you in the sight of God who gives life to all things, and before Christ Jesus who witnessed the good confession before Pontius Pilate, 14 that you keep this commandment without spot, blameless until our Lord Jesus Christ's appearing, 15 which He will manifest in His own time, He who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings and Lord of lords, 16 who alone has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light, whom no man has seen or can see, to whom be honor and everlasting power. Amen.

The Last Vote Counted. Now What?

I still remember the day after the election night one November. I came across a good friend and sister in Christ. She was crying and upset because of what had happened. The person she voted for had lost. She was so upset. She believed with her heart and in that moment that the world was coming to an end. I comforted her the best I could and told her that it will be fine because we have Jesus. He is still in control no matter who is in charge in Washington. I don't know if that helped her or not. It made me think about how we can get so engaged with the world, especially in a political season, and how it can overwhelm us emotionally and spiritually.

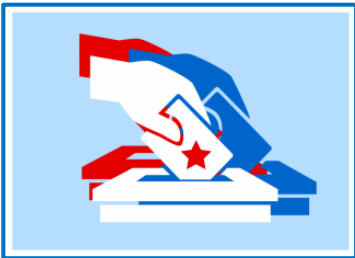

We live in a great country where we have the freedoms to worship and choose what to do for a living and where to live. We have the freedom to support and cast our vote for local, state, and federal leaders. What we can do here is something that is unthinkable in places like China, North Korea, and Iran. In places like China, it must be extremely difficult for underground Christians to hear lessons on Romans 13 were Paul said, "submit to governing authorities, For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist are appointed by God." (Romans 13:1)

When the last vote has been counted, there will be a winner and a loser. The country will be both happy and sad, or angry. What will Christians think and do after the votes are counted? What will the church do? Is our country over, or is what we know in this life ended if our person is not elected? I've read and seen many worse case scenarios if a certain candidate does not win the election. Let me say that when we vote we don't elect a "Savior". We have a Savior, and He remains in authority over all things both in Heaven and on earth. His power is not limited to our constitution or political boundaries.

He is the God of Heaven and earth. We are called to be transformed and not conformed. There is no better time to show that than after the election. I want us to remember some very important things, whether your person is elected or not. These are things that are not contingent upon votes or parties but on God and His glorious work. Please do not forget who you are and Who you belong to. We are "Christians" first and foremost. Our loyalty is to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. We need to demonstrate and remember that.

In Him,

Josh Barnett
